Today we learned about supporting each other if we're in trouble, and that it's important to be there for someone who is HIV-positive. I like it when the peer educators come and have sessions with us, and I would like to be a peer educator when I grow up!

In our latest session we learned that we are all winners, it was a lot of fun.

My favorite activity is Shark & Fish. In this game, the person who plays shark is the HIV-virus and tries to get the ball from the rest. If the shark gets / touches the ball that means I'm infected and then I'm out of the game.

In the session we just had, I learned that you can't get HIV from shaking hands, from swimming or hugging someone.

We always have fun in our sessions, I like doing the activities.

My favorite game in the whole world is football. Alan is the best player, and my next favorite is Philip.

We learned science in school today, and when I grow up I want to be a doctor. It's important for a doctor to know about HIV and AIDS.

COMMENTS FROM A PEER EDUCATOR

DAVID ODUOR (21)

CASL Peer Educator

I've been a peer educator for around 6 months. I love it when the kids ask questions and are active during our sessions. It's very rewarding to see that we have an impact on their decision making.

For me personally, CASL and the chance to be a peer educator mean I live a better life. I know I'm a role model in the community, which affects my behavior positively.
